

Practice working with the passato prossimo

write out the entire sentence in Italian using direct object pronouns in place of the direct object nouns.

I see Mary.

You buy the books.

He eats gelato.

I want to see you all.

I give the tables to Robert.

I have to bring Paul here.

We hear Paula every day.

They always listen to us.

You see them when you go downtown.

Don't push her!

Do they often have the book?

Do see the house?

Does he usually drink wine?

Will he always teach Italian?

Are you learning French?

Are they playing golf in Germany?

Does he drive the bus downtown?

Study Italian every day if you want to learn Italian.

I can bring Ann here tomorrow.

Can you help me now?

Do you want the book?

Do you see the boys?

Can you see the boys?

Do you want to see the boys?

Why do you want to see the boys tomorrow?

Do you have to study Italian every day?

Do you drive the car often?